When you call Nursing Styles, a real person picks up. Not a phone tree and not a call center, just someone from our local team in Largo or Sarasota who is ready to listen.

We know that calling about care for someone you love can feel like a big step. Maybe Mom has been forgetting appointments, or Dad isn't as steady on his feet as he used to be. Whatever brings you to the phone, you deserve a kind voice and real answers.

Since 1997, we've helped families across Pinellas, Pasco, Manatee, Sarasota, and nearby communities with home care from 4 hours a day up to 24/7.

In home care, responsiveness matters. Families who reach out are often in the middle of a stressful moment, and so are the discharge planners, case managers, and care professionals who help them.

That's why every call to Nursing Styles is answered by a real person on our local team in Largo or Sarasota, not a call center.

For nearly 30 years, we've supported families across Pinellas, Pasco, Manatee, and Sarasota with companionship, personal care, and skilled nursing, from 4 hours a day to 24/7.

If you work with older adults and their families and are looking for a responsive home care partner, we'd welcome the conversation.

The holidays often bring families together under one roof, and that's sometimes when we notice things that are easy to miss over the phone.

A few gentle signs that an older loved one might benefit from extra support at home:
• Mail, bills, or newspapers piling up
• Expired food in the fridge, or very little food at all
• Less interest in hobbies or seeing friends
• Trouble with stairs, getting up from a chair, or walking steadily
• A house that's harder to keep up than it used to be

Noticing these doesn't mean something is wrong, and it doesn't mean they have to leave home. It may simply be a good time to start a conversation. If you notice sudden changes in health or memory, check in with their doctor.

Our team offers a free phone consultation, with no pressure and no obligation, to help you talk through options. Even if we're not the right fit, we'll point you in the right direction.

For many adult children, the holiday visit is the first time in months they see a parent's daily routine up close. Small changes, like unopened mail, an empty fridge, or new difficulty with stairs, can be early signals that some extra support at home would help.

Home care can help older adults stay safely at home with support for daily activities, meals, light housekeeping, transportation, and companionship. Starting the conversation early gives families more options and more stability.

For professionals who work with older adults: this is a good time of year to share simple observation lists with families. Nursing Styles offers a free phone consultation for families in Pinellas, Pasco, Manatee, and Sarasota.

Decking the halls? Let's keep everyone safe on their feet. 🎄

Holiday decorations can create new trip hazards for older adults. A few simple checks:

• Run extension cords along walls, never across walkways
• Keep rugs, gift boxes, and decorations out of walking paths
• Leave ladders and high shelves to someone else, or use a sturdy step stool with a handrail and a helper nearby
• Add night lights between the bedroom and bathroom, especially when guests visit and furniture gets rearranged
• Keep everyday items within easy reach so no one needs to climb or stretch

Small changes make a big difference. Our team can also help with home safety assessments and modifications for aging in place.

Decorate safely this season 🎄

✔️ Cords along walls, not walkways
✔️ Clear paths of rugs and gift boxes
✔️ No climbing ladders alone
✔️ Night lights from bedroom to bath

According to the CDC, falls are the leading cause of injury among adults 65 and older. The holiday season can add new risks: cords across floors, rearranged furniture, extra clutter, and the temptation to climb a ladder to hang lights.

A few simple steps help: keep walkways clear, route cords along walls, add night lighting, and keep everyday items within reach. For longer term peace of mind, a home safety assessment can identify modifications that support aging in place.

Nursing Styles provides home safety assessments and modifications, along with in-home support, across Pinellas and Sarasota.

To every family caregiver: you're doing so much, and it's okay to need a break. ❤️

The holidays can add even more to an already full plate. Common signs of caregiver burnout include:

- Feeling exhausted even after rest
- Getting irritable or impatient more easily
- Pulling away from friends and activities you enjoy
- Trouble sleeping
- Feeling like there's never enough time

If that sounds familiar, you're not alone, and asking for help is a sign of strength. Respite care means a trained caregiver steps in for a few hours, a day, or longer so you can rest, run errands, or simply enjoy the season. Care with Nursing Styles can start at just 4 hours a day.

Please also check in with your own doctor about how you're doing. Your health matters too.

Caring for someone you love? It's okay to need a break. 💙

Feeling exhausted, short on patience, or stretched too thin are common signs of caregiver burnout.

Respite care gives you time to rest and recharge, starting at just 4 hours a day.

Many working professionals are also family caregivers, quietly balancing their jobs with care for a parent or spouse. The holiday season can stretch them even further.

Burnout often shows up as constant fatigue, irritability, trouble sleeping, and withdrawal from friends and activities. Respite care, where a trained caregiver provides support for a few hours or longer, can help family caregivers stay healthy and keep caring for the long term.

Employers and HR teams: a simple reminder about available caregiver resources can mean a lot this time of year. Nursing Styles offers flexible in-home care, from 4 hours a day to 24/7, across Pinellas and Sarasota.

Holiday gatherings can be joyful, and for a loved one living with dementia, they can also feel overwhelming. A few ideas many families find helpful:

• Keep gatherings smaller, or set up a quiet room where they can step away
• Stay close to their usual routine for meals and rest
• Plan activities earlier in the day, when many people feel their best
• Let guests know what to expect, and remind them to introduce themselves gently
• Focus on familiar things: favorite songs, old photos, and simple traditions they can join
• Watch for signs of tiredness or stress, and it's okay to end the visit early

Every person is different, so follow your loved one's lead, and ask their care team for guidance that fits them. Our caregivers are trained in Alzheimer's and dementia care and are here if your family needs support this season.

Florida winters are mild, but cool snaps still happen, and older adults often feel the chill more. A few seasonal reminders:

• Layer up on cool mornings and evenings, and keep a sweater or light blanket handy
• If using a space heater, keep it at least 3 feet from anything that can burn, plug it directly into a wall outlet, and turn it off when leaving the room or going to sleep
• Test smoke and carbon monoxide alarms
• Keep drinking water. Hydration still matters even when it isn't hot
• The sun is still strong, so bring a hat and sunscreen on outdoor holiday strolls
• On chilly nights, check in on older neighbors who live alone

Looking out for each other is what community is all about. 🌴

Holiday travel, visitors, and late nights can throw off daily routines, including medication routines. A few general organization tips:

• Keep an up-to-date list of all medications, vitamins, and supplements, and bring a copy when traveling
• A weekly pill organizer helps some people stay on track. Ask a pharmacist for guidance when setting one up
• Set phone alarms or tie reminders to daily habits like breakfast
• When traveling, pack medications in a carry-on bag in their original labeled containers
• Ask about refills before the holidays, since pharmacy hours can change
• Store medications away from heat and humidity, and out of reach of visiting children and pets

Questions about specific medications should always go to a doctor or pharmacist. If your family could use a hand keeping track, our nursing team offers medication management support at home.

1. Schedule one real break each week, even if it's just an hour
2. Say yes when people offer help, and keep a short list of tasks they can do
3. Keep your own doctor and dental appointments
4. Connect with a caregiver support group, in person or online
5. Keep key information in one place: contacts, a medication list, and insurance details

Care decisions made in a crisis, after a fall or an unexpected hospital stay, often leave families with fewer options. Planning ahead creates room for better choices.

As families reflect on what they noticed during the holidays, Nursing Styles offers a free phone consultation to help them understand needs, identify home safety risks, and explore a personalized care plan. We serve Pinellas, Pasco, Manatee, and Sarasota, with care from 4 hours a day to 24/7.

Referral partners are always welcome to call either office directly. A real person answers.

Short Video Scripts

Two simple videos, 30 to 45 seconds each, that staff can film on a phone held vertically. Keep it natural; small stumbles are fine and feel authentic.

Video 1: A Real Person Answers

Length: About 35 seconds

Who films: An office coordinator or scheduler in the Largo or Sarasota office, filmed on a phone held vertically.

Where and when: Instagram Reel and Facebook video in week 1 (pairs with the December 2 post). Optional LinkedIn upload.

Timing	What to film	What to say
0 to 5 sec	Staff member at their desk, phone rings, they pick up and smile at the camera.	"Hi, this is [first name] at Nursing Styles. And yes, I'm a real person!"
5 to 15 sec	Medium shot, speaking to camera.	"When you call us, you won't get a phone tree or a call center. You'll get someone from our local team, right here in [Largo / Sarasota]."
15 to 27 sec	Slow pan of the office: front sign, desk, a plant, the team waving from a distance (only staff who have signed releases).	"Whether you have a quick question or you're not sure what kind of help your family needs, we'll listen and help you figure out the next step."
27 to 35 sec	Back to staff member; on-screen text shows both phone numbers and the logo.	"Give us a call. We're here to help."

Suggested caption: Real people. Real help. Right away. 📞 Pinellas: 727-940-3414 | Sarasota: 941-378-8822 #NursingStyles #HomeCare #RealPeopleRealHelp

Text overlay: On-screen text: "Real People Answer the Phone" then both office numbers.

Video 2: Three Quick Holiday Home Safety Checks

Length: About 40 seconds

Who films: A nurse or Care Partner, filmed in the office or a staff member's own home with their permission. Never film in a client's home.

Where and when: Instagram Reel and Facebook video in week 2 (pairs with the December 7 fall prevention post).

Timing	What to film	What to say
0 to 5 sec	Staff member stands in a living room setting with holiday decorations.	"Decorating for the holidays? Here are three quick safety checks for older loved ones."
5 to 15 sec	Points to an extension cord, then moves it along the wall.	"One: keep cords along the wall, never across a walkway."
15 to 25 sec	Moves a gift box and small rug out of a hallway path.	"Two: clear the walking paths. Gift boxes and throw rugs are easy to trip over."

25 to 35 sec	Plugs in a night light in a hallway, room dims slightly.	"Three: add night lights between the bedroom and bathroom, especially when guests are visiting."
35 to 40 sec	Back to staff member, logo and phone numbers on screen.	"Small changes make a big difference. Happy and safe holidays from Nursing Styles!"
